Professor Ian HarperPartner, Deloitte Access Economics

Ian Harper is one of Australia's best known economists. He has worked closely with governments, banks, corporates and leading professional services firms at the highest level. As a member of the celebrated Wallis Inquiry, he was at the forefront of financial market reform in Australia.

In August 2008, Ian left academic life to become a Director of the former Access Economics, following a 25-year career, including 16 years in various roles at the Melbourne Business School. In recognition of his service to the University of Melbourne, Ian was elected Emeritus Professor on his departure. More recently, he joined Deloitte Access Economics as a Partner when Deloitte acquired Access Economics in March 2011.

Professor Harper will discuss how global economic volatility will impact the Victorian building industry in the year ahead. His presentation will deal with the effects of this volatility on our own local economy and how that will influence the way those in the building and construction industry will do business in the year ahead. Professor Harper will touch on the ways in which banking conditions in the building and construction sector will shift and how to best prepare for these changes ahead.
