WELCOME TO THE COMMUNICATION ESSENTIALS PROGRAM

The modern-day workforce is made up of nearly 5 generations, each with our own relational intricacies and communication preferences. Those that can adapt their styles and messages effectively and with cut-through will foster better working relationships, improve morale and efficacy for today and tomorrow.

Throughout the Communication Essentials program participants will gain invaluable experience and build the confidence to deal with typical interactions, issues, and personalities. They will learn and develop the fundamental communication and interpersonal skills required to be an effective contributing team member.

Each participant will gain an insight into their individual strengths, weaknesses and identify the critical areas of development necessary to set them on a path to a successful career.

Participants will benefit by:

- ▶ Develop new consultative and communication skills and techniques;
- ▶ Enhance their ability to build rapport, engage, influence and provide feedback;
- ▶ Learn and apply verbal and non-verbal communication skills to achieve better outcomes;
- ▶ Conduct more productive and effective meetings;
- ▶ Develop an awareness of their own communication and leadership styles; and
- ▶ Identify their individual development areas.
