Torquay Home Wins Top Building Award

A Torquay home built by Q Designer Homes has been awarded one the nation's highest building accolades, a Master Builders Australia national award for excellence in building and construction.

The home earned the National Project Home Award in the under $350,000 category at the Master Builders National Excellence in Building and Construction Awards at Parliament House in Canberra last night.

The Award recognises the home as one of the best in building and construction across the country in 2012.

The three bedroom home features large open living areas, open plan kitchen featuring a custom design walk in pantry and a large outdoor entertainment area.

The siting and layout of the home take full advantage of the north facing private yard and the exterior reflects the latest in urban design.

Chief Executive of Master Builders Australia, Wilhelm Harnisch said the home was a fitting winner of the National Project Home Award for a home under $350,000.

“This home is a great example of a builder delivering excellent value for money to their client. They were able to most out of a block of land and a budget while maintaining an exceptionally high standard of finish.

“The intelligent use of space take full advantage of the north facing yard to produce a high quality home that reflects current trends in urban design and coastal living,” Mr Harnisch said.

Master Builders Association of Victoria Executive Director Brian Welch congratulated Q Designer Homes for their quality workmanship and achievement on the national stage.

“This project has proven that Victorian Master Builders are at the forefront of Australian building. I commend Q Designer Homes on their outstanding achievements at the National Awards.”

The award was accepted in memory of Ken Malishev, founder of the Malishev Group who passed away earlier this week.

The Master Builders National Project Home Award is proudly sponsored by Assa Abloy.
